NUTRIENT IV THERAPY

ABOUT IV DRIP: If you're looking to boost your immune health, vitamin IV infusions are a great way to start, especially for people who don't respond well to oral supplementation. Vitamin IVs have been around for decades but have recently procured fame after celebrities starting using these to boost their "get up and go" lifestyles. The treatment can treat several conditions such as fatigue, depression, alcohol hangovers, and migraines.

HOW VITAMIN IV WORKS: Packed of vitamins, amino acids, minerals, and other vital nutrients they are administered intravenously while you relax to optimise your overall well-being. The advantage of this is that higher levels of nutrients can often be introduced into the body (at 100% absorption rate) than would be possible if taken orally (which is usually 10% - 30%)
