HORSE RIDING ETIQUETTE

Set within the 1,235-acre Al Wadi Nature Reserve, Al Wadi Equestrian Centre invites guests to experience the beauty, heritage, and spirit of the region from a truly unique perspective. Guided by our highly experienced team, the centre offers enthusiasts the chance to spend quality time with exceptional horses—whether on Desert Trail Rides or through structured lessons in world-class arenas. From first-time riders to seasoned equestrians refining their skills, every experience is thoughtfully designed to build confidence, spark curiosity, and celebrate the region's enduring equestrian heritage. Your safety and enjoyment remain our highest priority, and our horses and ponies are carefully selected for their temperament and suitability. However, as with all equestrian activities, there are inherent risks, and we kindly ask that you observe the following considerations:

- Please do not enter the stables when stable doors are closed.
- Children must be accompanied by an adult.
- Please do not feed the horses.
- Please be mindful that horses should be approached with care as they might bite or kick.
- For your well-being, we kindly ask that you follow all instructions provided by our expert Equestrian Team at all times.
- A signed indemnity form is required prior to participation.
- Long trousers and closed footwear is essential for your safety and comfort.
- Approved riding helmets must be worn and securely fastened at all times.
- For horse riding activities, the rider weight limit is 80kg
- You may be asked details such as your weight and height and about any previous riding history. This is to ensure we provide you with the most suitable horse for your experience.
- Please advise the equestrian team of any health issues or injuries at the time of enquiry
- Before trail riding begins you may be asked to complete a short riding assessment in the arena to establish which riding trail is most suited for your riding ability.
- Allocation of horses for your activity is decided by the equestrian team, based on horse suitability and availability.
- You will be accompanied on all trail rides by an experienced equestrian staff member. Please follow any instructions from them.
- Guests under the influence of alcohol are not permitted to participate in activities.

THE HORSE RIDING ACADEMY
