Resort Overview

Located in the stunning Pecatu region at the south-west of Bali, the all-villa luxury resort sits gracefully on the beach area of Uluwatu – one of the most coveted locations on the island.

The resort is a collaboration between Martin Grounds from Grounds Kent Architect, who developed the architectural concept, and Jean-Michel Gathy from Denniston International, an interior design consultancy. Wrapped around the property are the sprawling gardens designed by the late Made Wijaya.

The Concept

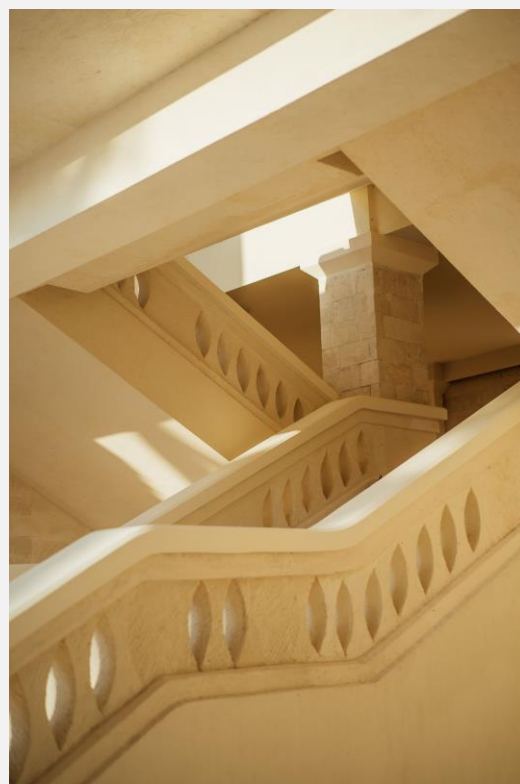

Jumeirah Bali was built upon a story based on an Amarta Water Palace that was once the Summer Palace of the King and the Royal Families during Majapahit's Golden Era.

We want guests to feel rendered, imagine and captured the magnificent of a Grand Amarta Water Palace that was once belonged to this once ruling kingdom in Nusantara.

Design Fit for Royalty

Blending indigenous building materials with contemporary and luxurious comfort to provide a sense of timeless elegance, the resort features dark stone structures, traditional carvings and statues, pools and fountains with floating plants and colorful fish. Combined with impeccably kept gardens and lush surroundings, guests are transported to an authentic Balinese haven of understated elegance with an opulent touch.

Escape to the Ultimate Tropical Getaway

Boasting spacious villas perched atop the limestone cliffs, Jumeirah Bali offers 123 villas all featuring a private pool and outdoor living area with an open pavilion overlooking the sunset horizon or a landscaped tropical garden for guests to indulge in a spiritual, secluded, and soulful experience.

Guest welcomed with a true Balinese royal & personal service combined with Arabian flair.
